Do You Know

- ... a woman whose interest in her students and her eagerness to help them have endeared her to all who have come under her influence?
- . . . Do you know a woman whose excellence inspired you to new achievements in the course she instructed?
- . . . If so, you know Mrs. Margaret Anne Tyndall, one who has meant so much to so many, and one who has presented herself as one that a student might emulate. She is a native of Alabama, a graduate of Pink Hill High School, received her degree from Woman's College in Greensboro, and has taught in the Pink Hill School system for several years.
- ... To this teacher for whom we all have the most sincere admiration, we dedicate the 1964 HORNETS' NEST.

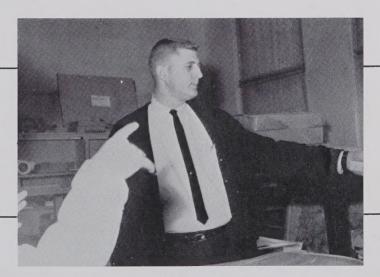

Mrs. Margaret A. Tyndall

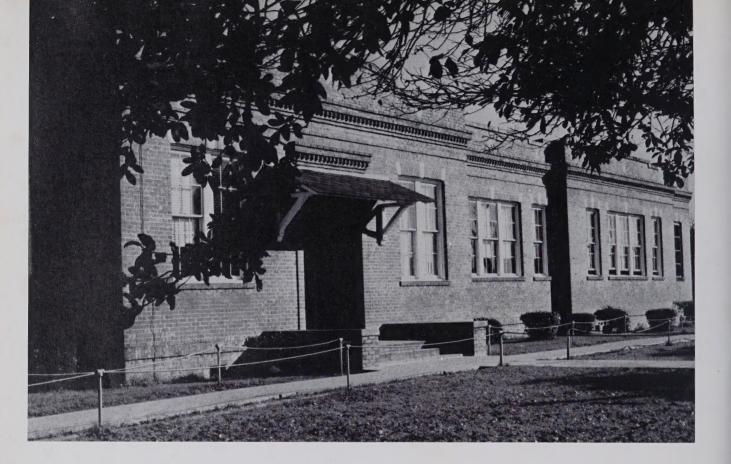

Do You Know

- ... the man whose infectious laughter and love of humor could not but force a smile from those around him?
- . . . Do you know a man who expects perfection and who offers assistance to those in need?
- physical education, science, and been head basketball and baseball coach at Pink Hill since 1961. During his four years at Pink Hill High School he has given unselfishly of his time and energy to the school and his students. He has proved this by going beyond the call of duty in making preparations for our athletic teams. He is a native of Atlantic, North Carolina, a graduate of Atlantic High School, and a graduate of East Carolina College.
- . . . To this man of prolific achievement we gratefully dedicate the 1964 HORNETS' NEST.

Mr. Thomas Salter

What Is a School?

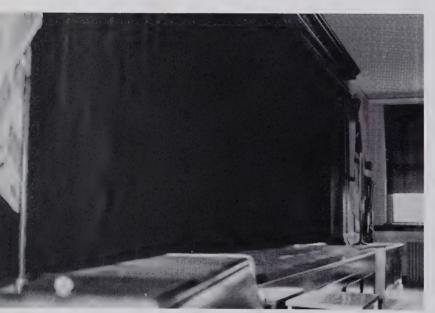

When you think of a school what do you see?
This is the picture that comes to me:
A school is people - teenagers and all.
It's assemblies and classes and a rush in the hall.
It's panic at grade times; it's black and gold;
It's thrills and excitement that never grow old.
Suspense fills the hallways, and rivalry's keen.
All yearn for a scholarship; who will be queen?
A school means projects and clubs with their fun.
And everyone working till all tasks are done;
Tense moments at ball games - will we win or not?
That "Go, Hornet" spirit means more than we thought!
What is a school? What is its story?
We've told it here in all of its Glory!

Student Life

The first bell has rung and all is still outside this building, but inside these walls the learning process is in progress preparing students to live better now and in the future.

Extra events, such as a pep rally, chapel program, or a special speaker, are presented on stage behind these curtains.

Trooper Archie Smith is always willing to help in any way possible in order to promote safety. Here he shows the fifth grade a film on the causes of highway accidents.

Operating the ice cream room is one of the main money-making projects of the seniors. Basel Hildreth and Larry Weber wait on some customers from the window of the ice cream room. Recess and ice cream are equally anticipated by hungry students.

School Buildings and Settings Add Color to Campus

Pouring from busses, cars, and plodding on foot, over five hundred students arrive at Pink Hill each morning to spend over seven hours in school. Here students are given the opportunity to select the classes and activities which will best help them to achieve. The joy of our days will linger long in our minds as we remember the days in school - - the hardships, frustrations, and joys.

The day is over and the busses quickly load for the trip home.

Our new and modern elementary building houses grades one through five. It is now lunchtime and a third grade class lines up to go to the lunchroom.

Mike Pickett and Haywood Stroud wait for the gym doors to open.

Daily Activities Give Continuity to School Life

School life is composed of many moods and many moments that we share with our fellow students. We yell at pep rallies and athletic events; we enjoy seeing at homecoming our graduated friends; we tred to and fro with an armful of books which are to be used in writing those inevitable term papers; we spend a happy half hour in the cafeteria with friends; we pass a quiet moment at the end of the hall with the favorite person of the moment. These are the moments that we share and enjoy here at Pink Hill High School.

The library is the hub of the school. Rose Howard is assisting Robert Howard in checking out a book.

One class or another is always searching for information. Scotty Wiley evidently has found an interesting article on hunting in his favorite magazine WILDLIFE.

The study of leaves and stems captivates the curiosity of Larry Howard and Anne Strickland.

Good conversation as well as good food makes lunchtime a favorite occasion. Linda Sanderson, Judy Gail Blizzard, Eleanor Hill, and Sandra Sanderson enjoy this time of the school day.

A familiar silhouette is this one that may be seen daily as students take advantage of a few quiet moments alone.

Joan Noble scurries across the school yard in an effort to beat that one minute bell before class convenes.

Another schoolday terminates and the stairways and halls immediately become the center of congestion.

Chatting in the halls and at lockers before and during school is typical for many of the students at Pink Hill. Alice Heath and Jerry Turner enjoy a conversation.

The mad rush between classes will never be over for one period has no sooner begun than the bell rings for it to end and the chase is on again.

Typical School Life Has Varied Activities

School affords time for many things - chats in the hall, creativity through writing, modeling clothes made in class, a refreshing pause at recess, and a pondering mind through quiet study in the library. We also find time to be kind and thoughtful to others.

First recess means it's time to go to the "ag" shop to get everyone's favorite refreshment, a drink and nab.

The classroom is the most typical scene in our school whether it be spent in intense concentration or working on a special report. Mary Ann Tyndall and Paulette Taylor read a general science assignment.

At Thanksgiving, we paused to enjoy a holiday program given by the students in Mrs. Bruce Perkins' fifth grade.

Eunice Taylor, Brenda Murphy, and Ellen Kennedy check their science homework assignment.

Rosemary Taylor reads library news to interested members.

Principal Frank Wiley, a dedicated and able educator, shows an untiring and active interest in school life and student advancement and an unceasing effort to promote scholastic achievement.

Mrs. Grace Carter, school secretary, fulfills many important functions in our school life. Upon her capable shoulders fall the tasks of keeping record cards up-to-date, publishing daily bulletin notices, answering the many phone calls, and keeping everyone in our school posted on routine.

Our Administrators Are Responsible for Our Efficient School Programs

The local school board is the guiding force by which our entire school system functions. With the welfare of the school and the student body in mind, the school board employs able administrators and staff and provides a worthwhile academic and extra-curricular program. The members are J. B. Noble, Currin Howard, Chairman W. E. Brewer, Quentin Stroud, and A. W. Turner.

Progress Through Science

Science is such an advancing field that it takes a keen mind to absorb and comprehend the many phases studied. At Pink Hill we offer courses in general science, biology, chemistry and physics. These courses offer a good background for advanced study.

Actual viewing is much more effective than the best descriptive sentence. Gerald Pickett studies the vascular bundles in a plant stem under a microscope so that his biology drawing can be completed.

Chemistry experiments along with intense classroom study lay a firm foundation for many professions in this modern space age. Mr. Thomas Salter is the instructor in this course.

"And this is the liver of the frog, says Mrs. Catherine Sheppard, the biology instructor, to Franklin Howard, Myra Jean Turner, and Susan Murphy.

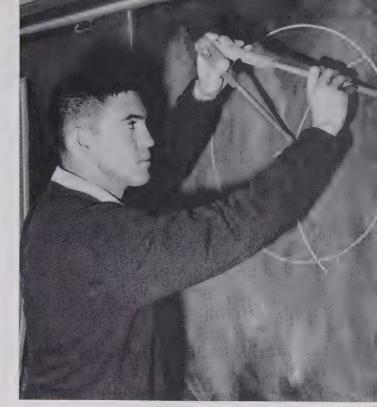

Our most advanced science course is physics. Here Larry Weber, Steve Ward, Johnny Turner, and Ralph Herron experiment to find out how the forces of nature act and how we can control them.

Mathematics . . . the Key to the Future

Practically anything can be proved through mathematics, so we need to be adept in this most important subject. Courses range from general math to contemporary geometry.

Using special equipment for work at the blackboard, Charles Miles demonstrates to his contemporary geometry class a few of the things that one can do with circles.

Mrs. Alice Stroud teaches courses in general math, albgebra, contemporary geometry, and trigonometry. Here she demonstrates the method for solving factional problems to a general math class.

"Mathematics may be the key to the future, but it sure is difficult to open the door," thinks a class in Algebra I.

CURRENT EVENTS Safeon Celebrating Diemin disconducator Radia Strates—The Gradust for History courses under Mrs. Margaret Ann Tyndall do not always pertain exclusively to past happenings.

Social Studies Teach Appreciation

History courses offer a study of periods of history, ranging from prehistoric times to the present day.

Our motto is, "A better understanding of the future through know-ledge of the past." We offer courses in world and American history, world geography, sociology, and economics to enable us to meet this goal.

"No, no, no! Mead defeated Lee at the battle of Gettysburg in 1864," said Janice Merle Noble to Judy G. Blizzard as they studied their U.S. History lesson.

In economics and sociology class, Raymond Murphy and Kenneth Heath point out a special place of interest.

Typing students spend many hours doing conditioning practices to tone up their speed and accuracy. Rosemary Taylor concentrates on all the minute things that make a good typist.

Mrs. Linda Paderick, commercial instructor, grades daily work to evaluate each student's progress.

Skill Subjects Train for Business

Business courses are not required for graduation, but many students enroll in them, especially typing, for personal use only. However, should a student pursue all of the courses offered he would be further prepared for many office jobs. We offer full courses in typing, bookkeeping, and shorthand to insure students of a good foundation on business procedures.

One must concentrate and use every available minute wisely in order to do well in typing.

Vocational Subjects Develop Creativity and Teach Precision

Two courses offered to increase vocational skills are home economics and vocational agriculture. A four year course is offered in both, and a graduated program of improvement can be seen from year to year. After four years of either course, one can be skilled in homemaking or agriculture. These courses are elective.

Senior boys study welding and machine repair. Basel Hildreth and Kenneth Grady are shown doing some repair on a lawnmower engine.

Vocational agriculture is taught by Mr. John Worthington. In this course farming techniques are begun as well as a modified course in the use of machinery.

This card catalog stand for the elementary library was built in the shop. Jimmy Strickland and Marion Smith put on the finishing touches.

Sewing is one of the main skills grasped by the sophomore girls in home economics. Katherine Taylor and other girls are sewing skirts and weskits.

Mrs. Nancy Jones instructs her class concerning the proper procedures to be followed in laying a pattern and then cutting.

Dianne Taylor works diligently in her homemaking class to complete her sewing project.

Mr. Thomas Salter, freshman health and physical education instructor, explains to the class the functions of the body systems.

Health and Physical Education Help Us to Learn and Practice Ways to Make Ourselves Physically Fit.

Health and physical education is a required freshman course but becomes an elective after the freshman year. Courses in physical education vary from basketball to weight lifting.

Eunice Taylor and Carol Greer meet the challenge in a game of doubles in ping-pong.

Group participation is always a favorite with freshmen. Here a group of girls swing on a rope. This type of exercise develops practically every muscle in the body.

Students who enroll in Drivers' Education learn through the two-fold method of the textbook and then through the actual experience of driving. Mr. Robert K. Hunter gives instructions to Ann Tyndall as she begins her first day under the wheel.

Special Interest Courses Offer Variety

Driver Education, a favorite with most students, is a rewarding subject to master. The joy of the sixteen year old, knowing that he is ready for his driver's license and that he will be known as a safe driver, is a joy that is probably unequaled at any age. Library work offers one the opportunity to become acquainted with every student in the school. Band opens a wide field. One can progress from the local band to the county band which is composed of the best musicians in Lenoir County.

Library Science students take a vote on what type book to purchase for the library with money earned from a bake sale.

Mr. James A. Piver, band instructor, is new to us this year. Here he is shown giving instructions to Wayne Pike, Anthony Quinn, and Daniel Whitson.

Mrs. Edith Wiley explains to the English IV class bibliography cards, note cards, and footnotes as they begin work on a theme.

English and Spanish Help Us to Advance in Other Fields

Four years of English and two years of Spanish offer a challenge to courageous students who are not afraid of hard work. A mastery of English grammar, literature, and English composition means better comprehension in all other subjects. Spanish students listen to records of singing and speaking in the "new" language as a means of increasing their vocabulary.

Mrs. Margaret Ann Tyndall teaches English grammar to third year students. Noun, verb, adjective, adverb, etc. Remember?

These informal group-type discussions in Spanish II class help students absorb verb conjugations and become more proficient in conversation.

The ability to express one's self clearly is a priceless asset in business and private life. In order that he might gain poise and self-confidence, Larry Weber practices public speaking by giving his class a book review.

Mrs. Catherine Sheppard brings to her Spanish class an enthusiasm for learning that is shared by the entire class.

Mrs. Linda Paderick instructs a class of freshmen students in the art of diagramming a sentence, a practice that is rewarding because of its broad applications.

These unsung heroes are responsible for our balanced and nutritious diets. They are Mrs. Hazel Murphy, Mrs. Esther Kennedy, and Mrs. Carrie Weston, manager.

Hilda Mitchell and Elsie Carr are cleaning the reception room in preparation for the November P. T. A. meeting.

School Personnel Keeps Up the Daily Routine

Daily routine is met by a staff of people who make it their job to keep every minute detail in the correct order. These duties vary from stoking the furnace, to sweeping the floors, to transporting students to and from school, to serving hot lunches to the five hundred or more students.

Mr. Morris Lee, school custodian, can be relied upon to do any job effectively and efficiently.

The bus drivers are a group of responsible young people who take over 500 students to and from school each day. They are Doug Taylor, Janice Noble, Charles Harper, Linda Heath, Scotty Wiley, Vicki Howard, and Larry Weber.

Activities

Beta Club

The Pink Hill Chapter of the National Beta Club considers character, scholarship, and service in the awarding of its membership. The scholastic requirement is that the individual have a scholastic average of 90 and maintain an average of 88.

Each year the Beta Club undertakes many useful projects, for financial gain as well as for helping underprivileged families in our community. These projects are supported through a White Christmas, dances, suppers, and selling school bracelets.

The highlight of the Beta year comes in April when many of our members attend the convention that is held annually in Ashville or Raleigh. The club strives to send its entire membership to this convention.

PINK HILL BETA CLUB chapter members include Sandra Sanderson, Judy Dean Blizzard, Christine Wiley, Judy Gail Blizzard, Janice Noble, Johnny Turner, Nell Bradshaw, Eleanor Hill, Linda Sanderson, and Linda Murphy.

of America

The Future Homemakers of America participated in various activities during the year. In the fall they had their annual banquet where degrees of achievement were conferred on the members who had earned them. They attended the State Fair in Raleigh and the District Rally in New Bern where they participated in the program. At Christmas the girls made and sold baked goods to raise funds for the club treasury.

Although the day of the bake sale was cold and rainy and the Christmas parade called off, the girls sold all of their goods. With helpers like Betty Brewer, Martha Hill, and Sharon Smith, how could they fail?!

Annie Ruth Boyette, Elaine Dail, and Mrs. Nancy Jones prepare fruit cakes for the bake sale to be held on the day of the Christmas parade.

The result of Betty Lou Sanderson's efforts was a beautiful cake.

Mrs. Nancy Jones, advisor, is reviewing one of her home economics classes for mid-term exams.

F.F.A. officers are Donnie Taylor, Donald Houston, Basel Hildreth, Virgil Murphy, Arthur Turner, and Harold Smith.

At Pink Hill School, vocational agriculture not only helps boys become established in farming, but it seeks to prepare boys for careers in agriculture. Each year there are 15,000 opportunities for college graduates with agricultural degrees and only about 7,000 graduates to meet this need.

Future Farmers in the FFA are taught to practice brotherhood and to fulfill responsibilities by aiding local people.

This chapter of the FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA has proved to be one of the most outstanding recorded at Pink Hill School. These boys have placed high in county and state events, and they have earned the respect of the entire student body because of their worthwhile projects.

The Pink Hill Chapter of the Future Farmers of America took first place in the state in tobacco judging. The team members are Mike Hatch, Virgil Murphy, Donald Houston, Arthur Turner, Ed Greer, and Donnie Taylor.

An annual F.F.A. money-raising project is the building of mail-box posts. Donald Houston, Virgil Murphy, and Hilton Jones are putting the second coat of paint on them before sale.

Although the town's December 16 Christmas parade was called off because of rain, the school displayed its floats on Monday morning to the school children. On this bitter cold day, Charles Smith, Arthur Turner and Larry Howard rode the F.F.A. float.

An annual occasion for both F.F.A. boys and F.H.A. girls is the trip to the state fair, accompanied by F.F.A. advisor, Mr. John Worthington.

The staff of the HORNETS' NEST finds itself quite often struggling through snapshots and individual pictures to decide which ones should be used. Staff members here are Carolyn Kennedy, Judy Gail Blizzard, Linda Sanderson, Linda Heath, Scotty Wiley, and Sandra Sanderson.

Hornets' Nest Recreates This Year Through Words and Pictures

It takes an entire year of searching, finding, and recording information for your HORNETS' NEST by every member of the staff. Copy sheets, pictures, rulers, and typewriters are only a few pieces of the equipment used daily by the staff. The staff has worked diligently at free periods in order that October 15, December 22, and February 22 deadlines might be reached. A visitor to the "cubby hole" would be amazed to see how an entire yearbook is planned in detail and all pictures drawn to scale. The staff enjoyed putting together this book for you, and we hope that it will bring many fond memories to you.

The job of planning layouts and meeting deadlines falls squarely upon the shoulders of Johnny Turner, Editor-in-chief of the yearbook.

The job of selling annual advertisements falls on the editor and his business staff. Much of this is done during the late summer. Scotty Wiley, Linda Sanderson, and Johnny Turner sell Mr. Sam Kennedy of C and M Cash Store an ad.

Professional photographer Cliff Adams risks life and limb to get good pictures for our yearbook.

The "cubby-hole" is where the complete process of planning takes place. Mrs. Edith Wiley, advisor, gives suggestions to the editor on how to plan a particularly difficult page.

Our own photographer Steve Ward is always on the job trying to get that particular moment recorded for you.

Martha Hill is busy replacing borrowed materials into the informational file.

Library Club Strives to Improve Our Most Important Research Area

The library is an indispensable part of our elementary and high school program. Students from all classes come here to gain knowledge on hundreds of subjects and to read for pure relaxation and enjoyment. The Library Club members help to make library experiences more meaningful to students by carefully and systematically working for a neat and modern library.

Charles Miles, Alice Sarvis, Ralph Herron, and Rosemary Taylor are performing a daily job for Library Club members - - straightening the magazines.

Black and Gold Times Continues to Grow

With the second year of publication of the school newspaper, students found themselves enjoying its feature sections more and more. Under the leadership of Johnny Blizzard, the staff created an image and displayed school life through sections such as sports, current events, individual compositions by students, and of course, the ever - present "gossip" section. The paper is published once a month.

Mrs. Linda Paderick, advisor, and Johnny Blizzard, editor, run off the first copies of the third edition.

The staff members of the newspaper work hard to see that an edition is published that is not only entertaining but also educational.

The MONOGRAM CLUB was formed to promote prestige in athletic activities and to give due recognition to those boys and girls lettering in the various fields of sports.

Athletic Associations Strengthen School Ties

The recent addition of two new clubs at Pink Hill has greatly increased the amount of spirit that is provided for the teams at athletic events. The MONOGRAM CLUB is planning a spring banquet to honor the lettermen of the past season.

PEP CLUB SPONSOR - Mrs. Catherine Sheppard MONOGRAM CLUB SPONSOR - Mr. Thomas Salter

The PEP CLUB is composed of the students from grades seven through twelve. A student remains a member as long as he does not miss more than two successive athletic events. The club requires that its members conduct themselves in the basic sportsmanlike principles.

Pink Hill School Improves Through PTA Projects

The most charming candidate in the Miss America Pageant was Miss Frankie Wiley.

The P.T.A. has as its primary aim to improve all phases of the school through cooperative school-community sponsored programs. Worthwhile P.T.A. programs this year included a classroom visitation by the parents to understand the child's school day, a discussion of school consolidation, an airing of social problems of teen-agers, and an explanation of the Lenoir County Guidance Program. The Halloween Carnival this year was a great success because the men in the community entered wholeheartedly into a Miss America Pageant. Proceeds from this event go for school necessities.

The officers of the P.T.A. for this year are Mrs. Marsha Brewer, President; Rev. Gene Hood, Vice-President; Mrs. Jack Heath, Secretary; and Mrs. Geraldine Simpson, Treasurer.

Beauty and grace are exhibited by none other than Miss Wilma Tyndall and Miss Jetherine Hill.

As time progresses so does the tense feelings of the contestants. This one last glimpse reveals the full beauty of the lovely creatures.

Marshals

Students from the freshman, sophomore, and junior classes with the highest scholastic averages are selected as marshals to lead the baccalaureate and graduation exercises in the spring and to usher at other school events. Those working for and achieving this honor are Johnny Turner, Chief; Nellie Bradshaw, Basel Hildreth, Sandra Sanderson, Betty Brewer, Christine Wiley, Linda Sanderson, Eleanor Hill, and Anne Tyndall.

Two Students Attend Summer

Educational Programs

We were proud this year to have two students attend summer educational programs. Eleanor Hill was chosen as a delegate to the Governor's School which was held on the campus of Salem College in Winston Salem. Johnny Turner attended Boys' State at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. Eleanor's field of study during the eight weeks' course was in social science. This included phases of psychology, anthropology, political science, sociology, and economics. Boys' State is a grouping of several hundred boys for the purpose of teaching the concepts of government to the boys through elections. Boys are chosen on the basis of leadership, citizenship, and ability.

President John F. Kennedy 1917-1963

In Memoriam

It is all over now, but we remember John Fitzgerald Kennedy. We remember the smiling young president with his lovely wife and children beside him, his energy, his enthusiasm, and his wisdom. We remember the suddenly grief-stricken classroom when the announcement of the assassination came to us. We felt a loss as personal as though it had been the classmate across the aisle. We knew that we were living history and felt all the more humble. We remember the flag-raising ceremony on our front campus the morning of his burial, the noon memorial services, and our grief which was shared by millions throughout the world.

It is all over now, but we remember. We are young and his words are a challenge to us. "Ask not what your country can do for you. Ask what you can do for your country."

A saddened student body stands in silence as the flag is lowered to half mast.

Principal Frank S. Wiley presided at the memorial services.

Linda Murphy mirrors the disbelief of millions who listened to the tragic news.

Elementary Teachers Train

Fifth grade teachers are MRS. BRUCE PERKINS and MRS. MARIE HILL, both graduates of Atlantic Christian College. Mrs. Perkins enjoys her work with the school chorus which sings each year in the county music festival and her work with the music program in the Methodist Church. Her three children graduated from PHS. Mrs. Hill's husband, a PHS graduate, is mayor of our town. Away from her classroom Mrs. Hill enjoys her two boys, Tony and Jeff, the beach, and reading.

MRS. KATHERINE JONES has taught sixth grade at PHS for several years. She is held in high regard by any student who was ever fortunate enough to be in her classroom. Jones enjoys sewing and helping care for several pet chihuahuas. Her daughter Nancy is a teacher in Raleigh.

This is MR. BOBBY DAVIS' first year at Pink Hill. He is as popular among his seventh grade students as among his fellow workers. He has won the admiration of his Junior-Varsity basketball team through his love of basketball. Mr. Davis admires a student who is honest and who puts a maximum effort into any project he undertakes. He and his wife reside in Moss Hill with their daughter Melanie.

Minds Toward Good Citizenship

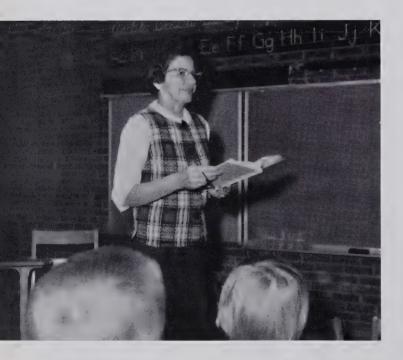

MRS. VIRGINIA HOWARD and MRS. MARJORIE PICKETT teach seventh and eighth grades respectively. Mrs. Howard is enthusiastic about her seventh grade students. Her husband, a graduate of PHS, is assistant director of the Lenoir County Industrial Education Center. They have two children, Becky and Steve. Mrs. Pictett has a great variety of interests outside school, including her family, gardening, and four grand-children. She commutes daily from Magnolia.

MRS. KATHERINE TYNDALL and MRS. GERALDINE SIMPSON combine knowledge and experience in teaching their third and fourth grades students. Mrs. Tyndall, a graduate of East Carolina College, looks for outstanding and inquisitive children, but she has a tender and helping hand for the slower ones. Her daughter Anne is a high school sophomore. Mrs. Simpson received her degree from Flora MacDonald College. Her husband is a local attorney and they have five children. Both teachers are active in the Methodist Church.

First and second grade teachers are MRS. SCARLET HOWARD, MRS. REBECCA SMITH, and MRS. JULIA D. TURNER. This is Mrs. Howard's second year at PHS and she finds working with primary children rewarding and exciting. She has one daughter Leraine. Mrs. Smith, who exemplifies the statement that a teacher should be interested in all phases of her students, drives in daily from Beulaville with her first grade daughter Becky Ann. Mrs. Turner teaches her students to be conscientious and inquiring, and she believes that a teacher should be enthusiastic and patient. Her two children are in school. Her interests include playing bridge, sewing and working in the Presbyterian Church where she teaches a class and sings in the choir.

MRS. CAROLINE BARKER attended East Carolina College. She says she likes teaching because she likes children and gets a real thrill when she sees their minds grasp new facts. She enjoys cooking and reading. Her special hobby is collecting china pitchers. She has two sons and one grandson on which she and her husband dote.

To sixth graders it's "working with numbers," but if you'll examine the books a little more closely, you'll find that it's plain old arithmetic that puzzles every age.

Victories Few But Rewards Many for J.V. Team

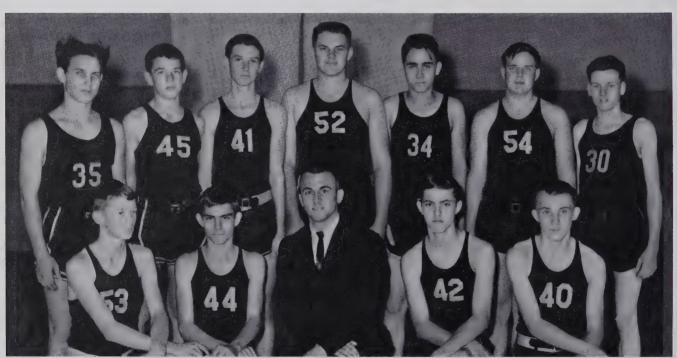

W. G. Smith and Jimmy Sandlin battle three Contentnea players for a rebound. The J.V.'s lost this game by a slim three point margin.

The Pink Hill Junior Varsity team under the direction of Coach Bobby Davis experienced a losing season with a record of 2 wins and 14 losses. Lack of height as well as a real scoring threat proved to be the detrimental factors. The Hornets made up for it with good spirit, hustle, and fine sportsmanship that always characterizes a basketball team that loves the sport.

Coach Davis instructs the boys on a play to use when an opponent uses a 1-3-1 zone defense.

Members of the JUNIOR VARSITY basketball squad are Bill Howard, Franklin Howard, Coach Bobby Davis, Johnny Blizzard, Lawrence Stroud, Larry Stroud, Curtis Murphy, Therman Malpass, Robert Howard, Alvin Turner, Dennis 74 Tyndall, and Cecil Pittman.

Program for Youngsters Builds Future Athletes

Pink Hill is a member of a Lenoir County Basketball conference for boys between the ages of 9-12 who do exceed 5'6" tall. The teams are limited to only three 12 year olds, three 11 year olds, and four 9 and 10 year olds on the same team.

The boys play a twelve game schedule with other county teams and at the end of the season an "all-star" team composed of the best players in the county is chosen. This team plays in an invitational tournament with teams from surrounding communities. The Lenoir County All Stars have sponsored and won the event over the four year period that it has been going on. Our own local team is coached by Rev. Jean Hood.

Good defense by a Moss Hill player deflects a shot by center Donald Kennedy and we're' on defense again!

The long shot by Billy Brewer drops and we're on the scoreboard!

Homecoming Highlighted

Miss Dianne Taylor
1964 Homecoming Queen

by Crowning of the Queen

Homecoming, an annual occasion at PHS, brings back many former teachers, graduates, and students. The proceedings associated with the day include a pep rally, a bar-b-que supper, a junior varsity basketball game, a varsity girls and boys basketball game, and at the halftime of the boys' game, the crowning of the Homecoming Queen. Nominees for queen are nominated by the senior class and voted on by the entire student body. This year's nominees were Dianne Taylor, Christine Wiley, and Evelyn Murphy. The queen's court consisted of freshman attendants Marsha Turner and Eunice Taylor, sophomore attendants Rosemary Taylor and Susan Murphy, and junior attendants Janice Faye Grady and Polly Westbrook. This year's games were with Southwood High School, and winning the games added the climax to a day filled with many thrills.

Half-time ceremonies of the boys' game featured the crowning of the queen by co-captains of the team Johnny Turner and Ralph Herron.

The traditional bar-b-que supper had two special guests for the evening, Superintendent H. H. Bullock and Mrs. Bullock. They enjoyed the meal with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wiley and Mrs. Lynwood Turner

Recent graduates Jackie Perkins, L. H. Turner, Bill Hatch, and Gene Taylor greet each other with the old familiar, "Man! It's good to see you!"

Graduation Losses Marred Chances for

Craig Hill, our leading freshman hurler, started only two games, but he came on in relief several times.

Those who follow sports closely usually are correct in saying that the team previously on top will have a hard time staying there. This was the case as the '63 Hornet squad took the field in the spring.

Our first four games, one non-conference and three conference games, left us with a 2-2 record but with only one conference win; however, for the first time during the season things looked promising with the improvement of some hitting and fielding by inexperienced sophomores and freshmen.

The competition still proved too tough. We dropped the next three games out of four and we were soon out of the conference championship. With the wind-up of the season the ex-Lenoir County champs had a measley record of five wins and seven losses.

A forced play at second! Shortstop Johnny Turner takes a low ball from the second baseman and completes the play for the out.

A Second Baseball Championship

Coach Salter instructs some of the boys on the team on the steal, bunt, and the run and hit signal. Because our team in general was composed of "light hitters," we frequently took chances in order to sacrifice men around in scoring position.

Our leading hitter for the '63 campaign was Freddy Simpson with a .337 average.

Proper bunting is demonstrated before the game begins.

IT NEVER ENDS

A big step is in store for you! When you are awarded your high school diploma, you will have completed only one step in your graduation cycle. As in high school, you will find your future education challenging and rewarding in molding your careers. Additional educational opportunities are available and the responsibility is yours to take advantage of them.

Leading members of the business world have stressed that what a man knows after completion of high school is not nearly so important to his ultimate success as what he studies later. In this age of changing times, the learning process never ends. The emphasis on learning after high school offers a promise of a good future for today's graduates.
